Biographical Note

Dr. Robert Pierce Harris (1886-1950), born January 21, 1886, in Chicago, Illinois, was a private practice physician. During his early career, he worked for the United States Public Health Service and was with the Veterans Administration in Little Rock, Arkansas. Dr. Harris also worked as an assistant superintendent of Austin Hospital in Texas. In 1941, he was appointed as a psychiatrist at Central State Hospital of Nashville, Tennessee, and resigned in 1943. Additionally, Dr. Harris briefly worked as a medical examiner for the Bureau of War Risk Insurance in Little Rock, Arkansas, and served in the Medical Corps as a first lieutenant of the administrative staff. He married Lula Green (1890-1987) on June 25, 1917, and Mrs. Lula Harris served as a nurse alongside Dr. Harris for the Ringling circus. Dr. Harris succeeded Dr. Joseph H. Bergin as the show physician for the Ringling circus in 1944 and was the Medical Director until 1948. After leaving the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus, Dr. Harris worked as a resident physician for two years at Eastern State Hospital, Knoxville, Tennessee. Dr. Robert P. Harris died on December 23, 1950.

Scope and Content Note

This collection consists of the papers of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Pierce Harris, who were doctor and nurse for the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey circus. This record series consists almost exclusively of correspondence and black and white print photographs. A significant portion of the photographs are press release photos of approximately 7.5 x 9.5 inches capturing scenes of circus performers. The collection contains a series of smaller photographs of assorted sizes and thirteen photographs signed to Dr. Harris, all related to circus as well. The collection also contains some ephemera consisting of business cards, stationary, newspaper clippings, and a few publications. The publications include a magazine, a route book, an official tour program, and some published articles. The materials are primarily organized by format.
